

Question No. 4

Is there an underlying relationship between endorsement switching and election outcome?

A special behavior : switching

- From one party to another (realignment)
 - Between endorsement and no endorsement (ex. USA Today 2016 ; Los Angeles Times 1976 dealignment)
 - preceded by 3 or 4 successive
- Could a high frequency of switching during a election have some indication on the national election outcome?
 - Could switches on endorsement have some impact on the process of flipping a state?
